

3Kites Legal IT Consulting Celebrate Initial Successes

Newly launched legally focused consulting organisation looks towards 2007 as a year to extend UK client community

London, UK– November 29, 2006 – 3Kites Legal IT Consulting (3Kites), a consulting organisation focused on bridging the disparity between business issues and technology, today announced a successful end to its first six months of trading with three significant projects at Simmons & Simmons, Shoosmiths (LLP?) and The Pensions Regulator.

“I could not have predicted a more encouraging first 6 months, working on a variety of projects focusing on business critical issues such as document and knowledge management . 3Kites are already making an impact on how firms can effectively capitalise on their existing IT investments whilst encouraging disparate business units to work successfully together.” stated Paul Longhurst, Consultant, 3Kites Legal IT Consulting.

3Kites prides itself on building the business on the quality of its relationships and service. This is already apparent as existing clients continue to expand the scope of projects and utilise 3Kites unique offerings.

Abby Ewen, IT Director, Simmons & Simmons stated “3Kites have brought experience, expertise and invaluable insight to our projects. We value their judgment and opinions; some of our largest current technology initiatives have greatly benefited from their involvement and we will continue to use 3Kites as we look into 2007.”

As 3Kites transitions into 2007 it will continue to grow its client base, embarking on projects with a number of significant international law firms, 3Kites will also be welcoming new consultants to the team, all with considerable pedigree; specialisms and industry experience.

End

About 3Kites Legal IT Consulting

3Kites Legal IT Consulting provides a fresh, practical approach towards consultancy for the legal sector. We add value by bridging between the business (clients, lawyers, secretaries and other support functions) and IT to gather, clarify and validate requirements, and by helping to deliver solutions which reflect these requirements accurately. Our consultancy style is dynamic, energetic, passionate, creative, collaborative and, above all, honest – we commit to setting and maintaining expectations about deliverables, timescales and costs so that you don't have any surprises.

For more information visit www.3kites.com

PureTech Marketing

Press Contact Information:

Laura Gulliver

PureTech Marketing

T: +44 (0) 7939 997059

laurag@puretechmarketing.com